

SECUREFLO SECURITY AS A SERVICE (SECaaS) BLOCKCHAIN SERVICES

WHAT IS IT?

Blockchain is a decentralized, distributed electronic ledger built on the model of offering absolute security and trust. Blockchain has the potential to improve everything from improving data integrity and digital identities to enabling safer IoT devices to prevent DDoS attacks. Indeed, blockchain might play across the 'CIA triad' of confidentiality, integrity and availability, offering improved resilience, encryption, auditing and transparency.

WHAT DOES SECUREFLO PROVIDE?

SecureFLO today focuses on Blockchain as a technology to apply to business process. We are looking to provide you the consulting capability to develop solutions for your environment while keeping security in mind. We understand that this technology requires technical expertise to make decisions on design, architecture, development, and we have the expertise. We will develop Blockchain capability in vertical markets

- Financial Services
- Healthcare
- Education
- Retail
- Government
- Energy

AREAS TO CONSIDER

We think blockchain like any new technology requires skilled expertise. We have a consulting approach to Blockchain. Our focus as we develop blockchain capabilities is to add our knowledge of security and compliance. The same technology that has enabled secure transactions with cryptocurrencies such as Bitcoin and Ethereum could now serve as a tool to prevent cyber attacks and security incidents
